

CHEERS TO FIVE YEARS

Please join us on April 17th from 3:00 to 6:00 for the Opening Day of the Milton Farmers' Market's 5th season. Bring your family. Bring your friends. Bring your Market bag and fill it with the year's first fresh local produce and lots of other Market treats.

Everybody in Milton knows that from April to October the Market is where to go on Friday afternoons to do your weekend shopping for fruit, veggies, Abbott's BBQ, bread, milk, ice cream, honey, jams, pastry, meat, dog treats, mushrooms, fish, oysters, locally grown plants, artisanal coffee, homemade soaps, goodies from Vintage Pasta and much much more. Boy do we miss it November through March, the fresh produce desert months.

This year, the FOURTH FRIDAY of EVERY month is gonna be even better. The Market's gonna be at the Dogfish Head Brewery and Modern Mixture will be joining our "regular" fourth Friday friends, Kemp's Liquors and Po' Boys. Nobody will be cooking on fourth Fridays in Milton. Good thing we have John Lehne from 302 Fitness to help us keep our girlish figures.

We've been so proud over each of the past four years to have watched Abbott's Grill, Backyard Jams and Jellies, Baywater Greens, La Bella Farms, Lavender Fields, Milton Garden Club, Nana's Delites, Pasqualini's Bakery and T.S. Smith (featuring Delaware's funkiest farmer) grow up with us. Thank you. We couldn't have done this without you.

And lest we forget, at the Market, we shop to music. Over the years we've been entertained by some of the region's best: Matt Lafferty, Tri-Polar, Junior Wilson and Chatty Cooper, Paul Cullen, Electric Velvet, Chester River Runoff, Jeff Evans, and Kent Schoch. Thanks for the tunes.

Most of all, we thank you, the citizens of Milton, for your generous support of the Farmers' Market over the last four years. We hope you will continue to enjoy it with us and make the Market's fifth season its greatest yet.

SEE YOU AT THE MARKET
